This performance was given for the benefit of the Actors' Fund of America. On Monday evening next at the same place "A Midsummer Night's Dream will be presented, for the benefit of the American Fund of the Benevolent Order of Elks, and under their auspices. The auditorium, which is one hundred feet square and slopes naturally toward the stage, will be enclosed with a canvas wall fourteen feet high, with a row of private boxes on either side, and seven hundred and twenty parlor chairs. No scenery will be used except that which nature has provided. The stage will lighted with twenty-five calcium lights, and the difgerent colored effects will be produced by them. Although the prices are high, all the seats have been taken and the receipts will amount to over $3,000.

Concerning the play itself, the stage management will be in the hands of Mr. William Seymour who has been long connected with the Boston Museum. On Tuesday Mr. Seymour arrived from Canton, Penn., and rehearsals began at the Park Theatre, in Boston. Miss Lillian Russell, who had agreed to play the part of Titania, sent a telegram on Wednesday refusing to appear, saying that the excuse of sickness had better be made. Mrs. Schoeffel went at once to Wintrop where Miss Marie Jansen was spending a few weeks, and laid the whole matter her and asked her if she would help them Miss Jansen at once consented, although she has never played in Shakespeare's comedies. MR. CROWLEY NOT IN DANGER.

SUFFERING FROM A TORPID LIVER AND EATING

Mr. Crowley remains an invalid at the Arsenal, al-hough his condition yesterday was thought to show some improvement. He is inclined to resent as a personal af-front the various rumors of his indisposition, and in order to show that he is not sick he will get up at intervals and make a circuit of his cage. But these efforts are usually followed by long intervals of rest, during which he reclines in the centre of his room stretched out on the floor and resting his head on one arm for a pillow. The cause of his sickness is attributed to his stomach or his liver, and his keeper, "Jake," denies emphatically that there are any slarming symptoms in his case.

The rumor that Crowley has been troubled with insomnia he denounces as purely a canard manufactured with a view to having some influence on chicapanzee politics in Africa. As an invalid Nr. Crowley presents a meck and interesting appearance, free from many of his usual monkey-like tricks. He shows a strong desire to be petted and careseed, and he will grunt in a most pathetic fashion when sympathy is lavished upon him. His face, the natural color of which is a light tan, shows his sick-

Director Conklin is convinced that Crowley's liver has become torpid through indigestion, and that it has produced some of the symptoms of malaria. When this has been counteracted he believes that Crowley will regain his strength and activity rapidly. He does not regard his condition as dangerous, and a sea voyage he thinks unnecessary so far as present symptoms indicate. Crowley's diet is restricted to beef broth and fruit. An effort was made to get him to swallow some quinine, but without Instead of swallowing the small gelatine-coated pills he would bite them open and the intense bitterness of the contents would convulse his face and cause him to spit out the uppleasant dose in all directions. of visitors have called on him during the week and in-quiries as to his health are numerous.

MR. VANDERBILT'S PLEASANT TRIP ABROAD. Among the passengers on the Etruria yesterday were Cornelius and Mrs. Vanderbilt. Mr. Vanderbilt did not land at the pier, but was met outside by the tug C. C. Clark, which landed him in time to catch the 5 o'clock train for Newport. Mr. Vanderbilt was looking exceedingly well and enjoyed a pleasant one of his fellow-passengers, in conversation with a reporter last evening, said that Mr. Vanderbilt had expressed himself as being highly pleased with his stay in England. On the voyage he was seen constantly on deck, taking his promenade up nd down the deck or resting in his steamer chair. No little interest was taken in his departure from he steamer. It was generally known on board that he intended going to Newport, but not at so early Many conjectures were hazarded as to the reasons for his being landed by the tug. The most satisfactory explanation seemed to be that he was cluding interviews about the much-tailed-of negotiations which rumor has insisted have been carried on between him and Jay Gould, in regard to the Western Union. The reporter was informed, however, that he wished to get to Newport as early as possible, merely to recover there from the fatigues of his covers.

COLONEL CODY'S JUVENILE RECEPTION.

Since Buffalo Bill established his exhibition at Erastina, two years ago, he, together with his partner, Nate Salsbury, have been great favorites with the people of the place, particularly the children. scout is very fond of children and is always kind to them when they come around his tent. Yesterday when it became known that there were only two weeks longer for the season to continue, a delegation of twenty little girls, dressed in white, waited on Buffalo Bill, and one, on behalf of the delegation, presented him with a large basket of flowers. At the same time she expressed it as the wish of herself and emparions, representing the juvenile population of Erastina and Port Richmond, that "Mr. Buffalo Bill and his Wild West would please not go away in two reaks, but would stay till the cold weather come on." Colorist Cody was pleasantly surprised and looked his happiness. He expressed his regret that previous engagements would compel him to move to Philadelphia in a fortnight, and then presented his proud little visitors to the big Indian chiefs and, after devoting an hour to showing them around the camp, allowed them to return home.

TROUBLE IN A CLUB OVER TWO DOGS. Some of the gossips in yachting circles are now discussing a somewhat unfortunate quarrel which two members of the Larchmont Club indulged in the other evening on the club grounds. The reports of the difficulty have, of course, grown as they travelled, and matters are now much more smooth than is The facts are that Charles H. Stevenson, Kate claxton's husband, and Commodore Munroe had a few words on the lawn near the club house over a fight between Stevenson's pug dog and a tramp dog who has been tolerated as deserving of sympathy Sout the club house. The aristocratic pug was being worsted by "Lacommont," as the Bohemian cur has been named, and Mr. Stevenson proceeded to chastise the unfortunate dog that had so far forgotten himself. Mr. Munroe thought Mr. Stevenson used too much severity and told him so. Then there were a few sentences of an uncomplimentary nature, which were reciprocated. The trouble was smoothed over by mutual agreement, but there is some probability that the matter will be looked into by the club, so as to see whether the dignity of the organization has been

THE BULGARIAN QUESTION.

CROPPING OUT ANEW IN EUROPE.

THE BASIS OF A ROYAL INTERVIEW-CANDIDATES FOR THE BULGARIAN THRONE-RUSSIAN PRESS COMMENTS AFTER THE EM-

PEROR'S VISIT. Copyright; 1888; By The New-York Associated Press. Berlin, July 28 .- The movements of Emperor Willam and his party after their visit to Copenhagen are timed so that they will arrive at Kiel on Monday next. In Tuesday His Majesty will hold a naval review, the leading feature of the manoeuvres being a test of the powers of torpedo boats.

SEEKING A MONARCH FOR BULGARIA. The interview between Emperor William and King Christian of Denmark has a special importance as associated with the settlement of a family question connected with the Bulgarian throne. The Czar appears to have given his assent to the creation of a Bulgarian monarchy, with either Prince Waldemar, the youngest son of King Christian, or the Duke of Cumberland on The Duke of Cumberland has decisively rejected the offer, which was made to him through Prince Bismarck. In his note refusing to accept the crown he declares that the proposal is an insult to him as the legitimate King of Hanover, and expresses the hope that he is destined to see the King of Prussia reduced to his proper level.

King Christian of Denmark advises Prince Waldemar to accept the throne of Bulgaria if the entente beween the European Powers is perfect. King George of Greece, the brother of Prince Waldemar, opposes his candidature. Important events are cortain to take place if Greece and Bulgaria come into conflict.

THE EMPEROR DELIGHTED WITH HIS RECEPTION The Emperor William, before returning to Potsdam, will go to Friedrichsruh to confer with Prince Bismarck. Advices from Stockholm say that the Emperor William was delighted with his reception in that place which was even more spontaneous and enthusiastic than the reception at St. Petersburg. The Stockholm journal of to-day, the "Dagens Nyheter," dwells upon the pleasant impression which the Emperor William left by his frank and unconstrained manner. It considers his visit of the greatest importance in assisting the progress of a peaceful policy, which must hence ome a security for the welfare of minor European nations.

The "National Zeitung," in a semi-official article, declares that the imperial visit to Stockholm and Copenhagen is a pledge for the re-establishment of friendly relations by Germany with the Scandinavian races, and adds: "If Denmark can forget Schleswig-Holstein, France ought to learn to reconcile herself to the loss of Alsace-Lorraine.

BISMARCK'S DIPLOMACY DISTRUSTED BY RUSSIA With reference to Prince Perdinand, it has been decided that he shall be assisted to maintain his position in Bulgaria. Last evening's "Sweboda," official organ of the Sofia Government, declares that the abdication of Prince Perdinand does not depend upon the will of any Power whatever; that he was raised to the throne of the Bulgarian Nation and will remain as long as he preserves the affection and confidence of the people. The Russian Government dis trusts more than ever Prince Bismarch's trusts more than ever Prince Bismarca's diplomacy with reference to Bulgaria. The "Moscow Gazette" and the "Sviet" are no longer content with demanding the deposition of Prince Ferdinand from the throne of Bulgaria as a guarantee of Germany's good faith, but demand that Prince Bismarck be first dismissed. It is notable as illustrating how little the effect of the Emperor William's visit to St. Petersburg modifies the anti-German hostility seen in the articles of the Pan-slavist press.

SAVAGE COMMENTS OF THE RUSSIAN PRESS. Regarding the church festival at Kieff, it should be said that it is not the great celebration which the Slav Committee expected. The contemptuous neglect with which Germany treated the celebration rouses the with which Germany treated the ecteoration rouses the ire of the Moscovite press. The "Moscow Gazette" says that Germany is a permanent menace to the peace of Europe, and that she stands in the way of Russia's ultimate destiny. A newspaper of Kief, the Riyeskove Slovo," the oran of General Ignatical, says Russia will seen absorb the Ealkans, including Constantinople, despite German intrigues or military strength.

The St. Petersburg press, within a few days after William. the departure from that city of Emperer William, uses much the same language. It is significant that the Emperor's visit accomplished little toward easing the strained relations between the two countries.

A VICTORY FOR THE VATICAN. The protest of the Vatican against the visit of Emperor William to Rome has proved effective. Cardinal Galimberti, Papal Nuncio at Vienna, is reported to be secretly seeing Prince Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe. The truth is, Prince Bismarck has assented to the proposal to have Gallimberti meet the Emperor William in Berlin, and to ask him personally to forego his visit to Rome.

MRS CLEVELAND ATTENDS A RECEPTION.

ENTERTAINED BY MR. NICKERSON AT MARION. New-Bedford, Mass., July 28 (Special) .- Early this morning Marion began to see carriages of all descriptions from far and near coming into town. It was Nickerson, Dedham's millionaire, who has a summer bo ception and dinner to-day. Although the President's wife attended the Nickerson reception, the host did not know she was to visit that place, when the reception was announced, but being here she was, of course, invited with R. W. Gilder and Mrs. Folsom. Over 200 invitations were sent out, but owing to the inclement weather, the number present was smaller than would otherwise have been. Mr. Nickerson is well known for his fine suppers and receptions and the present one was no exception. The guests began arriving shortly after 1 p. m., and soon after a special train from Boston arrived with guests and an orchestra. Mrs. Cleveland wore a white flannel suit and felt hat, with no ornaments, and chatted merrily with nearly all of the party. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Gilder, Mrs. Folsom, Mr. Coolidge, of Boston; Miss Rayburg, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, and the Rev. J. C. Brooks, of Springfield; Mrs. Franklin Gibbs, Miss Gibbs, Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Percy Browne and Miss Browne, Mrs. Bellows, Mrs. Ridgway, the Rev. Deane Gibbons, rector of the Episcopal Church, and family; Mrs. Vail and the Misses Vail, Dr. Miller, of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Whittemore, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Stackpole, Mattapoisett. After the party dispersed Mr. Gilder and party drove in Mr. Nickerson's tallyho to his home. The evening was passed at Mr. Gilder's home in a quiet manner. Mr. Gilder says Mrs. Cleveland has come for rest alone and will attend no other reception. She will not visit General Sheridan, owing to her limited time, but may visit Secretary Bayard's daughter, Mrs. Warren, at Mattapolisett.

CARDINAL GIBBONS'S HEALTH RESTORED. Baltimore, July 28 (Special).—Cardinal Gibbons re-turned to-day from North Carolina, where he went on account of his health. He has entirely recovered.

A MAIDEN'S HEALTHY APPETITE.

From The Albany Journal. While some young women are prone to disguise the fact that they have hearty appetites, it is pleasing to note that now and then one may be found who doesn't care if the whole world knows that she is hearty. A "Journal" man last night rode up North Pearlest on an open car. In the seat ahead of him sat a plump, rosycheched damsel of about 20 years. Her general air of cleanliness was italielsed, as it were, by a dress as white as the driven snow. She was eating a banana. After denuding the fruit, three mouthfuls sufficed for its disappearance. Then she took another from a package on her lap and as quickly and unconcernedly ate it. There was a gusto in her method that was quite entertaining. She ate as one may imagine a hearty, vigorous girl does when no one is looking. But she did not stop at two bananas. A third, a flourth, a fifth, and finally the last of a half dozen disappeared, the last one being eaten with all the relish that made the mastication of the first one interesting. Not more than two blocks had been traversed by the car while the bananas were disappearing, and the skins thrown gracefully in the roadway one at a time, would have furnished a perfectly tegible trail for a blind man in search of the conveyance. While some young women are prone to disguise the INTELLIGENT SUSPICION OF A DOG. From a Letter to The London Spectator.

The following instance of dog-instinct (or reasoning!) will, I think, interest some of your reasons. About a fortnight ago, while crossing the Albula Pass, our driver stopped for a few moments at the little restaurant on the highest point of it. A rough kind of herdsman's dog, of no particular breed, I suppose, came out and sat down by the carriage and looked up at us. We happened to have a few Marie biscuits in the carriage, so I threw half of one out to him. I suppose he had no experience in Huntley and Palmer's make, for he looked at and smelled it carefully, and then declined to cai it, but again looked up at me. I then took the remaining half, bit off and are a little bit of it, and threw over the rest to him. This time he ate at once, then fungi and ate the first piece, which he had before refused, and at once came and asked for more, which I had great pleasure in giving him. I may add that I have several times tried a similar experiment with more pampered dogs at home, but have never succeeded with It. Whether this arises from the latter knowing. In most cases, from experience what they like and what they do not like, or, as I am rather inclined to think, from the superior intelligence of this Alpine dog, who really reasoned that what I could cat he could, I leave your readers to decide for themselves. From a Letter to The London Spectator.

COMMISSIONER FISH RESIGNS.

HE ASKS THAT HIS CONNECTION WITH THE AQUE-DUCT BOARD BE SEVERED AT ONCE. Aqueduct Commissioner Hamilton Fish, jr., sent the following letter to Mayor Hewitt yesterday: Aqueduct Commission, Room 200 of Stewart Building, New-York, July 28, 1888.

His Honor Mayor Hewitt:
Sir: I have the honor to resign the office of Aqueduct Commissioner, my resignation to take effect to-day. Very respectfully,
HAMILTON FISH, JR.

Mr. Fish sent a similar paper to Governor Hill. Mr. Fish left town as soon as he had sent off these two documents. It has been known to his immediate friends that it has been his purpose to resign ever since the passage of the bill reorganizing the Aqueduct Commis-It was observed by some of the mathematicians about the City Hall that the resignation of Mr. Fish takes effect just 100 days before the next general elec-This does not of necessity imply that he intends to be a candidate for the Legislature this fall, but the fact remains that if he should make up his mind to seek the distinction of a seat at Aibany there will be no legal impediment to his accepting a nomination. Mayor Hewitt said that he did not have anything to do with the acceptance of Mr. Fish's resignation; that was a matter which belonged to the Governor He thought, however, that he had already been removed by the act of the Legislature. The Mayor said that he had not yet appointed the new Commissioners and should not do so until Monday. He still had until Thursday next to fill the positions. Routine business has been going on as usual in the office of the Board under the supervision of Commis-sioners Ridgway, Fish and Barnes, but as none of the old Commissioners have been in attendance since the passage of the reorganization act, there has been no orum either in the Commission or the Committee on Construction. The names of John T. Agnew and Colonel F. K. Hain, general manager of the Manhattan Elevated Rallway, were mentioned for appointment yesterday, in addition to those previously talked about. Mr. Hewitt remarked before leaving his office that he had not decided whether or not he would reappoint any of the old Board. This remark revived the rumor that either Commissioner Spencer, Fish or Ridgway might be found in the new Commission.

DIFFERING VIEWS OF PUBLIC POLICY. THE CALL FOR A SENATE TARIFF BILL

Tothe Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I regret to see your position regarding a Tariff bill by the Senate. Without it our party is in great danger. The Democrats have set before us as an entertainment a disgusting dish. Outsiders will say we must partake of it, as nothing better is offered. If nothing is offered, doubts and uncertainty as to what the Republicans may do in the future will trouble the country. The Senate should effer an attractive and wholesome dish, of which all business men and others can partake with a relish.

GEORGE M. RICE.

Worcester, Mass., July 27, 1888. NO SENATE TARIFF BILL NECESSARY.

To the Editor of The Tribune

Sir: Your article, "No Bill for Buncombe Wanted," is first-class. That is just the thing to do. The Democrats have made their record, and the Senate should do nothing to divert attention from that record. Yours truly. H. J. SARLES. Liberty, N. Y., July 24, 1888.

THE ISSUE CLEAR ENOUGH ALREADY To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Your editorial upon "No Bill for Buncombe Wanted hits the nail squarely on the head. The business interests of the country demand that the issue shall be left as fixed by their enemies. Enough time has been wasted in airing the ignorance of the lights," lawyers in Congress. Let the Senate now vote down the Confederate bill promptly and adjourn. The people of the United States are ready to vote upon the question as presented in the Mills bill. Your views will be indorsed by every friend of American productive industries. If Congress can be forced by public opinion to adjourn and go home, there will be instant relief felt in business channels, and the decks will be cleared promptly for a National decision upon the question at Issue. Respectfully, E. P. WILLIAMS.

KEEP THE DEMOCRATS ON THE DEFENSIVE. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Please use your influence against the Senate's bringing forward a Tariff bill this session. We have the Democrats on the defensive. Let's keep the there. CHARLES CADSGARD. Hornellsville, N. Y., July 27, 1888.

ARGUMENTS FOR A GENUINE PROTECTION MEASURE.

To the Editor of The Tribu Senators to frame and pass a Tariff bill is, I think, wise, provided every Senator will pledge himself to stand by the bill on its consideration. The bill so framed should be thoroughly in the line of protec ion, increasing duties wherever required to support American industries :- and there are many cases in which further protection is absolutely needed. reduction of one-half the duty on sugar would be an mmense advantage and of great benefit to the people. The Republican party can go most successfully to the people if it indicates some policy for the reduction of our revenues in accordance with the established doctrine of the party that the Tariff must be, from time to time, modified, but that this must be done by the party which upholds and defends the protective prin-Such a course, instead of suppressing or diverting ac cessines, would greatly stimulate them.

Again, suppose that the Democratic House should not originate a motion to adjourn, and that such a motion, if proposed in the Schate, should be opposed by every Democratic Senator, they making it a party question that the Senate should remain and consider some measure for the reduction of our revenues. Then suppose that the adjournment resolution, if passed by the Republican majority in the Senate should be held by the House and the Republican party be lectured by the Democratic papers and the Democratic Senators and Representatives on the ground that Republican Senators had no policy for the reduction of the revenue-that they dared not formulate one and give it to the people. I fear that the result might be that monetary and business interests would be alarmed, or at least made distrust

Again, suppose that Congress should adjourn without action. It is possible that the President would immediately convene an extra session, urging the necessity of a reduction of the revenue and perhaps necessity of a reduction of the revenue and perhaps toning down his free-trade message. There is no doubt that everything that can be thought of will be done to force and make prominent the issue that there must be a reduction of the revenue. I do not see, and I do not think Republican Senators need see any danger in the consideration of a measure thoroughly protective in its character—even more so than the present law. Possibly some Democratic members of the House might be glad to accept such a Senate bill as I have indicated, but they could not possibly do so without an absolute abandonment of their position and that of the Democratic party, for the measure proposed would be a radical protective measure proposed would be a radical protective measure, settling the question for years to come.

VALUE OF THE PEARL FISHERIES.

From The Jewellers' Weekly.

Never have pearls been more popular or commanded such high prices as during the past ten years. At present nothing is considered in better taste than the pearl on account of its purity and subduced beauty. This unusual demand has had the effect of greatly stimularing the search for them, especially on the west coast of Australia, at Thursday Island, the Sooiso Archipelago, in Cevion and the Persian Gulf, and also along the coast of Lower California. The demand included pearls of all colors except the inferior yellow. The fine black pearls of Lower California have been in great request, single ones bringing as much as $8,000. With these black pearls are found many beautiful gray and grayish-brown pearls. The different fisheries of the world produce fully $1,000,000 worth annually, of which Lower California fisheries produce probably one-sixth. Kentucky, Tenne-see and Texas have given us over $10,000 worth of pearls per annum; their remarkable fresh-water pearls, especially the pink ones, which are unrivalled for delicacy of tiat. The finding of two bushels of these in the Turner group of mounds in the Little Miami valley. Ohio, by Professor F. W. Puthan, gives us a faint idea of how plentiful they were before the arrival of the Europeans, but within the last five years many of the fancy-colored pearls have received their variety of color not from mature, but by artificial means. MR. RANDALL REACHES THE COUNTRY. SOMEWHAT PATIGUED BY HIS JOURNEY FROM

WASHINGTON TO WAYNE STATION. Washington, July 28 (Special) .- Mr. Randall, accompanied by his family and Dr. Martin, of Philadelphia, and another friend, left Washington this morning for Wayne Station, near Philadelphia, where he expects to remain during the period of his convalescence, for Mr. Randall is now regarded as convalescent. He was in good spirits when he left and inquired about the health of the "cancer correspondent" of "The World." Mr. Randall was strong enough to walk without assistance from his house to the carriage and from the carriage through the station to the train. His friends are very hopeful, not to say confident, of his recovery. It is not expected, however, even by the most hopeful of his intimate friends, that Mr. Randall will be able to make any Cleveland speeches in the pending cam-

HOW THE BIG JOGGINS RAFT WAS DUILT. PRATURES OF THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE QUEER

CRAFT-PROSP CTS OF SUCCESS. Boston, July 28 (special).-The Boston tugboa Underwriter and the New-York tug Ocean, left Boston this forenoon for Joggins, N. S., where they will make fast to the big timber raft. J. D. Leary, the owner of the raft, who was in Boston yesterday, said :

"The raft or ship consists of 22,000 round timbers. ranging in length from twenty to fifty feet and contains about 5,000,000 running feet of A 1 spruce spars in the rough. The timbers make up the raft just as they come from the woods. Since the first of last January I have had forty-two men hard at work getting the logs shape. The logs are laid in tiers, lapping over one another. A massive chain runs through the centre of the logs for its entire length. The chain is made of welded iron, the links being one and three-quarter inches thick. Aft, at a distance of ten feet, are cross chains with links four inches long and three inches wide. These run in all directions, and are clamped on the outside by cross arms of wood. The towing line will be attached to the main chain, and the transverse chains are so arranged that the pull on the main chain binds the whole mass together in a grip will make it next to impossible for it to go to pieces. the greater the strain on the main chain, the tighter the raft will be held together. Thick wire rope has been bound about the logs midway between each cross chain, which will increase the safety of the The weight of the raft is estimated at in the construction. The raft is 600 long, 55 feet beam, is 37 feet deep and draws 21 feet of water. It has a side sixteen feet out of water. The raft will has a side sixteen feet out of water. Captain Riley, of the Underwriter, who will have charge of the work of towing this unique craft, thinks that he will get it to City Island, where it will be that he will get it to City Island, where it will be broken up, in six days. The tow will be worked along the coast, across Massachusetts Bay, over the shoats and up from Island Sound. The cost of this log ship, if fanded snecessfully in New-York, is as follows: The timbers cost, in Nova Scotia, $13,000; the logs can be sold in New-York for $20,000. The timbers of the ship, if sawed on the Bay of Fundy, would require a fleet of 100 schooners to transport them to New-York, or it would take fifty trains of fifty cars each to transport the lumber the same distance. There seems to be no doubt in the minds of tow-boat people in this city that the work of handing the raft will be successful.

MRS. CLEVELAND AND THE BUSTLE.

Washington Gossip in The Battimore Sun.

The fashion writers are affording folks at the White House food for much merriment. It is as no uneed by them with all the positiveness imaginable that Mrs. Cleveland has discarded the bustle. It is untrue, and there is no present prospect of an edict going forth from the White House changing the fashion is this respect. This statement is made to allay the fears of the ladles who have a lingering fondness for reeds and wire.

WAGING WAR IN LONG ISLAND CITY. MAYOR GLEASON ARRESTED AND TAKEN TO OURT-THE EXAMINATION SET FOR THURS

The hostilities between Mayor Patrick Jerome Gleason, of Long Island City, and the Long Island Railroad Company were continued with much vigor, but the war has assumed a different aspect. The lMayor was served with two warrants issued by Justice Delahanty charging him with maliciously destroying the Long Island Railroad property. Court Officer James Fautry was given th warrants to serve upon the Mayor, but refused to execute them. The Court endeavored to show the officer the folly of his action but he stubbornly refused to take advice. Detective James Cody, of the Long Island Raifroad Company, was then ordered to put the warrants into execution. The Mayor was not at all surprised as he had been previously informed that his arrest was only a question of time.

As the big Mayor entered the court room, he said good-naturedly to the Court : " I understand you have got two complaints against me." "I have." plied Judge Delahanty, laughingly. The examination was set down for Thursday next. During the discussion about fixing a definite day for trial, a lively scene took place. Counsellor Foster wanted the examination set down for Friday or Saturday of this week This was opposed by Counsellor Allen, who thought that Tuesday next would be an agreeable day. "W can't do that," replied Mr. Fester. We have to prepar can't do that," replied Mr. Foster. We have to prepare for the injunction proceedings before the Supreme Court next Monday." "And don't forget," chimed in the Mayor, staring at Mr. Allen, "that I've got to get Austin Corbin before me on Tuesday. He's got to answer, or I'll know the reason why." Mr. Corbin rejoined. "Mr. Allen knows how to take care of his own rights." Judge Delahanty finally settled the difficulty by placing the examination down for Thurseday. In the meanwhile, the Mayor was paroled in the custody of his counsel. The Mayor then left the court declaring that he would show the railroad company that they could not run the city while he was the Mayor.

Four Local Assemblies applied yesterday for a char to the Provisional Committee of the Knights of Labor, and if they get it they will become an independent organization. Three more Local Assemblies are considering the advisability of applying for a charter, and it is said they have started negotiations

The Independent Council of the Building Trades Association, representing fifty-six Local Assemblies, at their last meeting adopted resolutions to suppor the side in the fight now going on in District Assembly No. 49 that has possession of the charter unless otherwise ordered by General Master Workman T. V. Powderly. Master Workman James E. Quinn now holds that charter.

The Progressive Painters' Union, in which there are 1,600 members, will at their next meeting consider the preposition to withdraw from District Assembly No. 49, repudiating both parties now quarreiling for power. They will pay their dues to the General Ex-ecutive Board.

"The small-fruit crop," said George S. Palmer, a fruit dealer, resterday, "Is small. I am speaking now of blackberries and huseleberries. The pear crop in the Hudson River Valley is blighted, and will be almost a failure; but in other sections the pear yield promises to be fair. Plorida pears are coming in, but as they are of the earliest varieties, they are not worth much. The Jamaica ginger makers may feel jubilant, for the water.
